

Trevor Loy

Lecturer, Dept. of Management Science and Engineering, Stanford University; Managing Partner and Founder of Flywheel Ventures

Trevor Loy is a Lecturer in the Department of Management Science & Engineering at Stanford University, where he co-teaches a graduate-level course titled "Entrepreneurial Management and Finance." Trevor is also the Managing Partner and Founder of Flywheel Ventures. He has over 20 years of investing, entrepreneurial and operating experience in technology ventures. He is also a past director of the National Venture Capital Association (NVCA), a co-founder of the New Mexico Venture Capital Association, and helped create the Rocky Mountain Venture Capital Association.