When Lucy Chaucer was three she wrote on walls, on lamps and on mum's expensive dresses. As soon as Lucy was five she could read and write perfectly. She liked to read about kind princesses, curious explorers, far away planets and aliens.

One day, Lucy was thinking about writing a story of her own. She wanted to write about an explorer, her story started greatly, got a bit crazy and upsettingly had no ending. But Lucy glanced at the clock and it was seven "I think it's time to go to bed." In the morning she had changed her mind to write about a princess. The story started amazingly but then got a little confusing and sadly, she couldn't think of an ending. That afternoon Lucy changed her mind again and decided to write about an alien. The story started wonderfully but then got a little muddled and madly she couldn't think of an ending.

Two days later, Lucy was laying on the sofa doing her homework with her pet cat, just then she had a terrific idea "I wonder?...", she ran upstairs where she by mistake ran into her big treehouse bed and a gigantic pile of books fell on her head. Lucy picked herself up and wrote the best story in the world. A story about a princess explorer and her poor pet alien who wanted to get home from a faraway planet called Plozog!

Lucy Chaucer, famous author, now writes books with her cat…
