

Call for Sessions

“The 2nd Emirati Conference on Medical Education”

The National Institute of health specialties (NIHS) is determined to continue with the series of medical education conferences and envisions the 2nd conference on 10th & 11th February 2024 under the name of “The 2nd Emirati Conference on Medical Education”. Below is key information for those who are interested in considering the submission of a session proposal for the conference.

When is the deadline for submission?

Submission deadline is 2nd January 2024.

Who should submit a proposal?

The NIHS encourages submission of session proposals in line with the scope and theme of the conference. Submissions can come from institutions working in the fields of medical education or health services including academic institutions, health authorities, hospitals, medical education departments, sponsoring institutions or programs organizing residency education. Submissions from individuals with expertise and interest in medical education are also possible, especially when coming from experts in areas related to residency education and hands on training.

What topics should proposals address?

Topics can address any of the following areas:

- Accreditation and QA of residency education
- Assessment in residency education
- Specialty training governance and organization
- Continuing professional development
- Regional and international collaboration for residency education
- Innovations in residency education
- Interface of undergraduate and graduate health professions education
- New developments in health professions education
- Areas pertaining to training of residents/fellows
- Areas pertaining to faculty development
- Resident and student research and quality improvement projects

Session Proposal Registration Service: <https://nihs.uaeu.ac.ae/en/forms/session-proposal-form.shtml>